Subject: Application for an Internship in Development with a Prospect of Employment

Dear Sir or Madam,

I am currently in my final year of a Bachelor's degree in Computer Science at HE DEVINCI in Brussels, and I am seeking a first professional opportunity at the end of my studies. With this in mind, I am eager to join your company, well known for its major role in the industry and for its commitment to delivering innovative and high-performance solutions to its clients and partners.

My academic background and experiences have allowed me to build strong skills in Java, TypeScript, and Python, along with a solid knowledge of SQL databases, data-oriented modeling and analysis, and modern frameworks such as React. I also had the opportunity to develop solutions on Salesforce (Apex) and Odoo, which enabled me to strengthen my expertise in ERP/CRM development and in business application integration.

These technical skills, combined with my analytical mindset, rigor, and adaptability, will enable me to actively contribute to the design and development of reliable, scalable, and user-oriented applications.

As part of my final year of study, I am required to complete a 15-week internship starting in February 2026. This internship would be an ideal opportunity for me to apply my skills in a real professional environment and, at the same time, for you to assess my potential and motivation. I would be particularly enthusiastic about continuing this collaboration beyond the internship in a long-term employment perspective.

I would be delighted to discuss my application further with you and to explore how I could contribute to the success of your digital projects.

Yours faithfully,
Livius Daniel Marica
